

Coto, Child of the Ocean

Imagine living in an ocean with all the animals of the sea. Eating like them, swimming with them, and living like them. This is Cotos world. Legend has it that a small boy living with the creatures of the sea, who got his name from Child of the Ocean, is mothered by a mighty white seal, swims with the dolphins, dances with the seals, and is protected by the eyes of a hawk. Accidentally sighting Coto one night from the cliffs, Lone Wolf is overwhelmed by the beauty of Coto, a child of about seven or eight years, living and swimming amongst the sea creatures as if he was one of them. Little did Lone Wolf know, this would not be his last sighting of Coto. Coto would become part of Lone Wolf and his grandson Tigers life in a way they were not prepared for. Unfortunate circumstances put Coto into a position of witnessing the slaying of the seals. Coto would now be a witness, and he would soon become the hunted himself. Lone Wolf and Tiger have now become the protectors of Coto, as the poachers hunt them down. Cast into the fast-paced world of survival, Coto, Lone Wolf and Tiger would now fight for their lives and race against time. Can the three of them outwit the poachers? Its an action-packed adventure right to the end.
