

Bulldog Drummond at Bay

Demobilised Officer finding peace incredibly tedious, would welcome diversion. Legitimate if possible; but crime if of a comparatively humorous description, no objection. Excitement essential. Captain Hugh Drummond, D.S.O., M.C., no longer has to advertise for diversion. Whilst staying in Norfolk for the duck shooting, an unknown man hurls a stone through the window of his cottage. Hugh goes out to investigate, finds a pool of blood outside his gate, and is confronted with two suspicious foreigners who proceed to search him and his cottage at gunpoint. Coded messages, mysterious young women, and sinister secret societies follow in quick succession and Hugh begins to enjoy himself in his own inimitable fashion . . .
