

No Accident

Kent Fisher is an environmental health officer with more baggage than an airport carousel. When he's summoned to the Tombstone Adventure Park to investigate what appears to be a fatal work accident, Kent quickly discovers that the details don't add up. What was Sydney Collins doing at the park so early in the morning? Why would he wear a shirt and tie while operating a tractor? And who removed the guard to the power takeoff shaft that killed him? Despite his supervisors' insistence on closing the case, Kent's curiosity--fueled by his contentious history with the dead man's employer, wealthy playboy Miles Birchill--soon raises questions about the death and the complex deception behind it. But as Kent digs deeper, he sets his personal and professional lives on a collision course that could ultimately destroy the people closest to him. Sydney Collins had secrets, and someone in the village will do whatever it takes to keep them buried. Set in the Sussex countryside, No Accident is the first book in Robert Crouch's Kent Fisher Mysteries series.
